CONCERT FOR PIANO AND ORCHESTRA
(1957–58) DE JOHN CAGE

Sluchin, Malt - London, June 30th, 2014

- Concert for Piano and Orchestra (1957-58)
 - Decisive stage.
 - For the first time, the control over all the aspects of the music is given to the interpreter.
 - Each performance could thus be different from another, and
 - The duration may vary each time.

Piano Pages

- Structure of the score is different from that of the instrumental parts.
- Elements are not only “punctual”
- There are different forms of composing, each having particular rules for interpretation.

Instrument Parts

- Each instrumental part (each Solo) is composed:
 - one page of detailed instructions to performance

SLIDING TROMBONE

The following 12 pages for a trombone player may be used in other parts for other players. It is therefore a page in an ensemble, symphony, or concerto for piano where there are 12 pages, any amount of them may be played.

Each page has 5 systems. The time-length of each system and a total performance time-length, the player may make up by additional silences or not) that will fill it. The length of time (when there is one) will alter the length of minutes in the circumstance of having a conductor, the player is made so that he will be able to play faster or slower than a standard chronometer.

Notes are of three sizes: small, medium, and large. ppp, pp, p in the dynamic range or short in duration; a large note is either mp, mf in the dynamic range or medium or both. The possible interpretations are many: it may be long in length but of any amplitude; or it may be short in duration in time. Also, a small note may be short in amplitude, or it may be soft, but of any duration.

All notes are separate from one another in time, by a silence (if only a short one).

Notes below a staff and attached to it by a stem are sounds (above E flat), overtone rips, or interval shells; the use of the mouthpiece with or without the instrument; barking, speaking or shouting into the instrument verbally indicated but may be exchanged for other sounds by the player.

The image shows a page of a musical score for Trombone, consisting of six staves. A red rectangular box highlights a section of the fourth staff. Inside the box, the following text is written:
SLIDE DISCONNECTED
H.V.
SOFT
Below the text, there is a musical notation consisting of a flat sign (b) followed by a quarter note on the second line of the staff. Below the note, there is a hairpin symbol (two slanted lines) pointing to the right, indicating a crescendo.

A new way of displaying the music

Concert for Piano and Orchestra (1957–58)

INTERPRETATION CONTEXT (CONCEPTS)

Sluchin, Malt - London, June 30th, 2014

The four concepts (\pm 1950-60)

- “Silence”
 - ...
- “indeterminacy”
 - “indeterminacy” \neq “chance”
- “chance” (random).
- “unintentional” (non intentional)

The problematic...

- How to navigate rapidly between two events, that are displayed on different places, on disjoint pages ?
- How can one makes an “non-intentional choice” ?
- How could one better integrate these concepts by an interface, or notation within a computer sphere?

COMPUTER INTERFACES

Sluchin, Malt - London, June 30th, 2014

Instrumental interface 2

The screenshot displays a MaxMSP window titled "Concert_trb_14_ev_pct". The main interface is divided into several sections:

- Left Panel: Contains musical notation on a staff. At the top, the word "FAST" is written in a stylized font. Below it, there are two vertical bars and a curved line. Further down, the number "8" is displayed above a black circle, with a "b" to its left. Below this, there is a wavy line on a staff with an upward-pointing arrow.
- Top Right: A digital display shows "0 min 8 sec".
- Center Right: A control panel with the following elements:
 - "0) Turn on" with a close button and a "p init" button.
 - "1) 'r' = init" with a radio button.
 - "2) Settings" with a "p reglages" button.
 - Instructions: "b, première page" and "espace, démarre chronometre".
 - "Next event" section with a small thumbnail of the musical notation.
- Bottom Right (Presentation Window): A window titled "[reglages] (presentation)" with various settings:
 - "Piece time length 1": 4 min 33 sec
 - "effective time length 1": 4 min 25 sec
 - "min_display_time": 5000
 - "show_next_event?": checked
 - "calculus_mode": random
 - "lambda_time": 8. sec
 - "rand_min_time": 2000 ms
 - "rand_max_time": 8000 ms
 - Buttons: "read external file" (Open_file!!!), "Save session in a file" (Save_file !!)
 - A graph showing a curve between "rand_min_time" and "rand_max_time".

At the bottom of the MaxMSP window, the text "Sluchin, Malt - London, June 30th, 2014" is visible.
